EFFECT: Prohibits the use of "vocational factors" in determination of eligibility for the general assistance-unemployable (GAU) program, resulting in an anticipated 28% reduction in the GAU caseload and a corresponding $109.4 million savings in cash and medical assistance.

Increases budgeted student enrollment at the public colleges and universities by 6,030 full-time equivalent students for each year of the biennium, at a cost of $71.4 million.

Reduces annual resident undergraduate tuition increases from 14% per year to 7% per year at the public 4-year universities.

FISCAL IMPACT: No net cost. $109.4 million of increased higher education expenditures offset by a corresponding reduction in expenditures on GAU cash and medical assistance.
